

ACRONYM IX - Round 3 Tossups

1. This phrase titles the debut album by Ozzy Osbourne's daughter Kelly. A breakup song that claims "we're still losing control" is titled for this phrase and was recorded by The Black Eyed Peas. Another song named for this phrase by The Ting Tings pairs it with the demand "Let me Go." These two words begin the title of a song in which Nicholas Petricca says a woman is "holding back" and "is my destiny." For 10 points, name this demanding phrase that precedes "and Dance" in a song by Walk the Moon.

ANSWER: shut up [accept Shut Up and Let Me Go or Shut Up and Dance]

2. This game is a sequel to a similar release known by the acronym SARPBC. A "time warp" mode in this game slows players down as they approach a certain object. One available modifier in this game spews a musical staff and causes heavy metal music to play. This game's Chaos Run DLC added Wastelander, a non-uniform playing area. Players in this game can use Gizmo and Octane body types, which can equip antennas that resemble this game's ball. For 10 points, name this game that, save for the use of cars, resembles soccer.

ANSWER: Rocket League

3. The protagonist of this TV series learned many of his skills from a former general known as "Accomplished Perfect Physician" in another medium. The city where this show takes place was renamed after the apparent death of scientist and businessman Ray Palmer. This series, which is often set at the nightclub Verdant, established a shared universe that includes the animated Vixen and 2016's Legends of Tomorrow. Stephen Amell [uh-MELL] stars in, for 10 points, what CW series about the bow-wielding Oliver Queen?

ANSWER: Arrow

4. Operation Paget [PADGE-it] was formed to explore conspiracy theories surrounding this event, including one that supposedly implicated James Andanson's white Fiat Uno. Henri [ahn-REE] Paul was found responsible for this event, which stemmed from an incident in the Pont de l'Alma tunnel in Paris. A six-hour religious service following this event featured the performance of a reworked version of Elton John's "Candle in the Wind." For 10 points, name this August 1997 event preceded by the crash of a car holding a British royal.

ANSWER: the death of Diana, Princess of Wales [accept equivalents; accept things like "the Diana car crash" before the end]

5. Neal Scanlan, who co-created this character, called him a "Swiss Army Knife that shouldn't be trusted." In one scene, this character observes a conversation in which a man keeps trying to hold a young woman's hand. This character is briefly captured in a net by a Teedo and nearly sold to a junkyard dealer for 60 portions. In later scenes, this character expresses agreement using a small torch and is reunited with Poe Dameron. For 10 points, name this small, round astromech droid from Star Wars: The Force Awakens.

ANSWER: BB-8

ACRONYM IX - Round 3 Tossups

6. This team's official motto is a phrase from the poem In Flanders Fields, and one of its nicknames literally translates to "Holy Flannel." Thanks to two goals by Paul Byron, this team won the 2016 Winter Classic against the Bruins. This team lost to the Lightning in the 2015 Eastern Conference semifinals despite the performance of the Hart and Vezina [VEZZ-in-uh] trophy-winning goalie Carey Price. The team with the most Stanley Cup wins is, for 10 points, what NHL team whose name reflects the country in which it is located?

ANSWER: Montreal Canadiens [accept either]

7. This author co-wrote the David Mamet film Things Change as well as a song about a disillusioned housewife, "The Ballad of Lucy Jordan." A lion sings the "marshmallow song" to himself in this author's first children's book, in which he used a pseudonym that included the word Uncle. He noted that "learning's a bore" in his "Standing is Stupid," which appears in a collection whose cover depicts a man with a window in his forehead. For 10 points, name this poet and author of A Light in the Attic and Where the Sidewalk Ends.

ANSWER: Shel Silverstein

8. Two revivals of this TV series had theme songs recorded by The Grateful Dead and Korn's Jonathan Davis. A young Burt Reynolds appeared in an episode of this show about a writer who brings Shakespeare back to life with black magic. Classic episodes of this series include one about a lone bookworm titled "Time Enough at Last" and one in which William Shatner sees a monster on the wing of an airplane. Rod Serling created, for 10 points, what anthology series that began with narration describing the title mysterious location?

ANSWER: The Twilight Zone

9. Near the beginning of this event, an invocation was made by Swami Satchidananda. A late change of venue for this event moved it to a dairy farm owned by Max Yasgur, and it was officially dubbed an "Aquarian exposition." Official follow-ups to this event were held in 1994 and 1999, the latter of which ended after its attendees started numerous fires. This event ended with an iconic performance of "The Star-Spangled Banner" by Jimi Hendrix. For 10 points, name this 1969 festival described as "3 days of peace and music."

ANSWER: Woodstock Music & Art Fair

10. Atlanta Hawks player Mike Scott has over 25 of these things tattooed on his body. Shigetaka Kurita is credited with creating these things, whose film rights were acquired by Sony in 2015. In December 2015, Kim Kardashian released a series of these things that included a large rear end. Also in 2015, the Oxford English Dictionary made one of these things its word of the year, even though it is not a word, though it does symbolize tears of joy. For 10 points, name these images used in electronic messaging.

ANSWER: emojis [prompt on 'smileys' or 'emoticons']

ACRONYM IX - Round 3 Tossups

11. In Final Destination 2, Tim's grieving widow is killed in one of these places. Billy Costigan is killed while in one of these places near the end of The Departed, and another of them is the setting of the horror film Devil. Before a fight begins in one of these places, Captain America asks if anyone wants "to get out" in The Winter Soldier. Upon entering one of them for the first time, Buddy the Elf claims that part of it looks like a Christmas tree and presses all of its buttons. For 10 points, name these vestibules for traveling in buildings.

ANSWER: elevators [or elevator cars]

12. In one game in this series, the player dates the aspiring artist Mindy, who releases a self-made magazine. The latest game in this series includes Leticia Bufoni and rappers Lil Wayne and Tyler the Creator as playable characters. One review of that 2015 game dubbed it an "insult to its history," though it did bring back a level creation feature which was last seen in 2005's American Wasteland. Two games subtitled Underground are also part of, for 10 points, what game series named for a legendary skateboarder?

ANSWER: Tony Hawk's Pro Skater

13. This baseball team was formed after its home state agreed to drop a lawsuit against the league for moving their previous team. As of 2015, the most recent Major League perfect game was thrown by a member of this team. This is the only AL team to never play in a World Series, despite achieving a record-tying 116 wins in 2001. After the 2015 season, this team re-signed pitcher Hisashi Iwakuma and fired manager Lloyd McClendon. For 10 points, name this team that plays at Safeco Field in the Pacific Northwest.

ANSWER: Seattle Mariners [accept either]

14. A 2015 Korean web series depicts the boy band Exo moving to this title place, which also appears in the name of a 1989 Jack Ketchum novel. A 2016 thriller film starring Jennifer Lopez and Kristen Chenoweth has a title that mentions this place, which is also the title origin of an Elisha Cuthbert-played adult film star in a 2004 comedy. "Kids" from this place are identified with "Numbuhs" as their "Code Names" in a Cartoon Network series. For 10 points, name this location that often describes "boys" and "girls" who are neighbors.

ANSWER: next door [accept boy next door or girl next door or kids next door]

15. Samuel Shenton founded a society for people who believe in this theory. In January 2016, model Tila Tequila expressed this belief, citing an airplane's ability to land without crashing as evidence. Later that month, a man who posted photos of Anchorage, Alaska and the New York skyline to supposedly prove this theory released a diss track aimed in part at Neil DeGrasse Tyson, who said he was "five centuries regressed." For 10 points, name this theory espoused in 2016 by rapper B.o.B. about the way the world is shaped.

ANSWER: the flat Earth theory [accept equivalents or descriptive answers]

ACRONYM IX - Round 3 Tossups

16. A particularly vile one of these items was modified with toenail clippings and dropped in a toilet before being dried with a gym sock. Small varieties of these products are called "pipsqueaks," and regular ones are kept in a namesake vault according to the episode "Just One Bite." One maker of these items temporarily left his job to sell them in different colors. This food item, whose coveted secret formula contains both love and barnacle shavings, is often ordered with Kelp Fries. For 10 points, name these burgers sold at the Krusty Krab.
ANSWER: Krabby Patties

17. This team was founded in 1929 as the Portsmouth Spartans. In November 2015, this team signed Crezdon Butler who, the following day, broke up a late pass to help secure their first win at Lambeau Field in 24 years. This team of running back Theo Riddick drafted a quarterback from Georgia first overall after their 2008 season, in which they became the first team to go 0-16 for a season. Jim Caldwell coaches, for 10 points, what NFL team that was weakened by the sudden 2016 retirement of wide receiver Calvin Johnson?
ANSWER: Detroit Lions [accept either]

18. After suggesting to director Michael Mann that he adapt a 1980's TV show into a film, this actor refused to leave the country to finish filming it. This actor, who also released the 2015 music album Hollywood: A Dozen Roses, played a detective named Ricardo Tubbs in that film. In other roles, he played a limo driver who picked up a hitman played by Tom Cruise, as well as the late singer of "What'd I Say." For 10 points, name this performer who starred in Collateral, sang on Kanye West's "Gold Digger" and played a blind singer in Ray.
ANSWER: Jamie Foxx [or Eric Bishop]

19. Charles Bronson portrayed a mysterious harmonica-wielding man in a Sergio Leone film whose name begins with these four words. The final film in a Robert Rodriguez film trilogy about the hero El Mariachi also begins with these four words and takes place in Mexico. A TV series named for this phrase depicted Operation Mongoose, which was led by Emma Swan. The first words spoken in Into the Woods are, for 10 points, what phrase that names that ABC fantasy series and also begins many fairy tales?
ANSWER: Once upon a time [accept Once Upon a Time in the West on super early buzzes]

20. This man guested on the Miguel track "How Many Drinks?" and called out a dozen rappers, including Big K.R.I.T. and Meek Mill, in a verse on Big Sean's "Control." This rapper, along with Ab-Soul, Jay Rock and Schoolboy Q, comprise the group Black Hippy. One song by this rapper notes "everybody wanna cut the legs off him" in reference to a Roots character, and another describes his hometown of Compton as "m.A.A.d ["mad"] city." For 10 points, name this rapper of "King Kunta," which appears on his album To Pimp a Butterfly.
ANSWER: Kendrick Lamar [accept Kendrick Lamar Duckworth]