Lead guitarist and Meme Lord: Joshua Malecki. Questions edited by: (That guy again) Joshua Malecki. The Fort Osage High School.

Round 4

1. Bryan Adams’s 1996 song “We’re Gonna Win” was dedicated to this sports team, and members of this team performed in Suggs’ “Blue Day.” Oscar Emboaba {EM-BOE-AH-BAH} and Branislav Ivanović {EE-VAH-NO-VITCH} left this team in January, 2016. This club ran off 13 wins in a row,* before a January, 2017 loss to Tottenham Hotspur, which tied the Premier League record. This team won the League 3 times under the management of José Mourinho. For 10 points, name this English soccer team managed by Antonio Conte and captained by John Terry, which plays their home games at Stamford Bridge.

Chelsea Football Club

2. Writers for this cartoon were influenced by Ray Bradbury and would often draw slips of paper with nouns on them out of a hat in order to create a story idea. In one episode, titled, “Culture Shock,” a neighbor of the main character hosts a talent show at a well-known restaurant in town*, while in another episode, that main character steals a balloon on “Free Balloon Day.” In one episode entitled “Reef Blower,” another character uses the title object all over various objects in the town of Bikini Bottom. For 10 points, name this TV show whose stars include the frycook of the “Krusty Krab,” his best friend Patrick Star, and frenemy Squidward Tentacles.

Spongebob Squarepants

3. This album was written and recorded while the singer was dealing with depression brought on by his brother’s service in Vietnam and the death of his recording partner, Tammi Terrell. This singer once said, “with the world exploding around me, how am I supposed to keep singing love songs?,”* before recording this album. This album is a concept album about a man returning to his inner-city neighborhood after having served in Vietnam, and contains songs like “Save the Children,” and “Inner City Blues.” For 10 points, name this 1971 album, containing “Mercy, Mercy Me” and the title track, by Marvin Gaye.

What’s Going On?

4. This baseball player debuted in 1939, but lost nearly five seasons combined to service in World War II and Korea. In 1941, this man became the last player to hit .400, but still lost the MVP vote to Joe DiMaggio.* The next year, he would win the first of his 2 Triple Crowns, but again lost the MVP vote to Joe Gordon. This Red Sox outfielder won his second Triple Crown in 1947, but again lost the MVP vote to DiMaggio by one vote. For 10 points, name this baseball player, who got a hit in his last at-bat, nicknamed “the Splendid Splinter,” and “The Kid.”

Ted Williams

5. This line of shoes was originally designed by Tinker Hatfield, but aeronautical engineer M. Frank Rudy would eventually create and patent its most notable feature. The 95 model of these shoes was so popular in Japan that some wearers were attacked and mugged for them. That 95 model of these shoes* was also referenced by Gucci Mane in his single, “Bricks.” These shoes were introduced in a 1987 commercial using the Beatles song, “Revolution.” For 10 points, name this Nike shoe that has large air cushioning in the heel that is visible from the midsole.

Nike Air Max

6. One of this band’s songs is based off of the Coleridge poem, “The Rime of the Ancient Mariner” and begins with the line “You took my life, but I’ll take yours too.” This band’s eponymous first album was released in 1980, but their 3rd album, The Number of the Beast,* contained some of their biggest hits, including the title track. This band’s original lead guitarist and lead singer, Adrian Smith and Bruce Dickinson, rejoined this band in 1999. For 10 points, name this British heavy metal band with tracks such as “The Trooper” and “Run to the Hills,” and its skull head logo, Eddie.

Iron Maiden (prompt on Eddie The Head before mention)

7. This game series invented the term “weapon wheel,” and the weapon progression in this game goes from iron to steel to silver. The first game in this series was created for the Famicom, and is titled “Shadow Dragon and the Blade of Light.” This video game series* most recent installment is a mobile game that pits the Emblian Empire against the Askran Empire. That game is titled “Heroes,” and was developed by Intelligent Systems. For 10 points, name this tactical combat video game series with characters such as Marth and Roy.

Fire Emblem

8. This rapper was inducted into the WWE Hall of Fame before Wrestlemania 32, and his first cousin competes under the name “Sasha Banks.” Some of this artist’s lesser known albums include The Masterpiece and Malice ‘n Wonderland. A line from one of this rapper’s earliest songs states, “They ain’t leavin’, till 6 in the mornin’,* and he was prominently featured on Dr. Dre’s 1992 album, The Chronic. For 10 points, name this Compton-based rapper with songs like “Young, Wild and Free,” and “Who Am I (What’s My Name)?” who collaborated with Katy Perry on “California Gurls.”

Snoop Dogg (prompt on Snoop Lion or partial answer, accept Calvin Broadus, Jr.)

9. In the beginning of this film, a workaholic corporate lawyer misses his son Jack's baseball game. While that man is visiting his wife Moira's grandmother in London, his two children are kidnapped. The director of this film, Steven Spielberg,* originally conceived this as a musical, and his friend, fellow director George Lucas, makes a cameo on a bridge while the protagonist is being carried to Neverland by Tinker Bell. The character Smee convinces the titular man into manipulating the kidnapped children, and succeeds in making Jack think of him as a father figure. For 10 points, name this 1991 Robin Williams film where he rediscovers his true identity and the titular character is eaten by a crocodile.

Hook

10. This famous television family began as a series of one-frame cartoons in the New Yorker beginning in 1938. The family is led by the patriarch Gomez, who claims Spanish heritage, along with his wife Morticia,* and an extended family that includes a severed hand called "the Thing." The members of this family are seemingly unaware that others find them bizarre or frightening, which drove most storylines. This television program ran for two seasons on ABC, but was also made into a 1991 movie starring Raul Julia. For 10 points, name this "mysterious and spooky" family, known for its theme song.

The Addams Family

11. A character in this film reveals that he was once known as "the Waco Kid," and claims to have "killed more men than Cecil B. DeMille." The protagonist in this film is saved from execution by Hedley Lamarr,* and is appointed as the sheriff of Rock Ridge, which is destined to be the site of a new railroad. Bart was scheduled to be executed for hitting his railroad foreman on the head with a shovel after narrowly escaping death in quicksand. For 10 points, name this 1973 Mel Brooks film, in which Cleavon Little and Gene Wilder convince a racist town to support the notion of a "black sheriff."

Blazing Saddles (points for me for keeping it clean!!)

12. This country artist's first hit was 1981's "Unwound," and he met his famous backing band while attending Texas State University-San Marcos. This artist's second album contained his first #1 hit, "Fool-Hearted Memory"* as well as "Marina del Rey" and "Amarillo by Morning." By the time of his retirement in 2015, this artist had 60 #1 Country Hits, including "Does Fort Worth Ever Cross Your Mind," "The Chair," and "Ocean Front Property." For 10 points, name this Texas native, whose "Ace in the Hole Band" backed him one last time on his final 2014-15 tour, "The Cowboy Rides Away."

George Strait

13. This football player was drafted by the Chicago Cubs in 2009, which is why only one Division I program offered a scholarship as a QB. This QB ran a pistol offense at the University of Nevada, before being drafted by the 49ers.* This QB took over for Alex Smith in his second season, and took the Niners to the Super Bowl, where they lost to the Ravens. This QB became a target of criticism by Tomi Lahren and others for his actions of kneeling during the National Anthem. For 10 points, name this now-unemployed QB who has been criticized for his public support of "Black Lives Matter."

Colin Kaepernick

14. Although the majority of the episodes take place at the CBI headquarters in Sacramento, California, the final seasons of this show took place at various FBI offices. The protagonist of this show had gone on television five years before it began to explain the methodology of a notorious serial killer,* and came home to his wife and daughter murdered by that same individual. During the first three seasons of this show, stories alternated between “regular” cases and the protagonist’s hunt for the killer. For 10 points, name this TV show, in which the title character hunts, and finally kills, the serial killer “Red John.”

The Mentalist

15. Three prominent quarterbacks do not appear as themselves in this sports video game, which is thought to be one of the most hacked and emulated games in existence. A yearly tournament for this game occurs in Madison, Wisconsin* using updated rosters from the now 32 team league it is based on. Bo Jackson had almost ridiculous powers in this game, which was used in a recent Kia commercial with his former nemesis, Brian Bosworth. For 10 points, name this NES game, which allowed players to play each other, the computer, or as a coach, that was released in 1991.

Tecmo Super Bowl (also accept “Super Tecmo Bowl”; the three quarterbacks were Randall Cunningham, Bernie Kosar, and Jim Kelly)

16. In a scene from this film, a group of bankers discuss how there was last a “run” on the bank after the Boston Tea Party. A young man in this movie does not want to invest his money in the bank, but instead wants to “feed the birds,* tuppence a bag.” The title character comes when the wind shifts direction, in order to be a nanny for the misbehaving Banks children, carrying her umbrella and a large bag. A character named Bert functions as the narrator of this movie, and works in the movie as a street musician, street painter, and chimney sweep. For 10 points, name this 1964 movie starring Julie Andrews as the title magical nanny.

Mary Poppins (prompt on partial answer)

17. Shortly after this song was released, the band that recorded it was asked not to play it by First Lady Pat Nixon when they visited the White House. This song was inspired by the large amounts of “draft dodgers” that attended this Canadian band’s shows. In one line of this song, the singer states, “Colored lights can hypnotize/*Sparkle someone else’s eyes,” while in another he states, “I don’t need your war machines/I don’t need your ghetto scenes.” Lenny Kravitz covered this song in 1999, but omitted the famous guitar solo. For 10 points, name this 1970 song, which opens with an acoustic portion that spells out the song’s title, by the Guess Who.

“American Woman”

18. The first 5 seasons of this show were in black-and-white, but switched to color with a move to the CBS network. The eldest son in this family was written out of the show, but to maintain the show's storyline, a three-episode arc was created in which the widower father adopted a young orphan boy.* The protagonist of this show was played by Fred MacMurray, who had also starred in The Shaggy Dog. This show was on for 12 years before its cancellation, and only Ozzie and Harriet aired longer as a live action sitcom. For 10 points, name this show, in which MacMurray starred as widowed engineer Steven Douglas, with the namesake family of boys.

My Three Sons

19. The protagonist of this movie is aghast to find Ray Liotta Private Select brand honey when he goes to the grocery store with the human Vanessa, seemingly unaware of its use. This character first introduced himself to Vanessa, by asking, "Do ya like jazz?"* which has become a popular Internet meme. This protagonist later sues the human race in court, and wins, which causes a worldwide honey shortage. A version of this film on YouTube speeds up each time the title word is uttered, resulting in a seven minute long video. For 10 points, name this movie, and popular Internet meme, starring Jerry Seinfeld as Barry B. Benson.

The Bee Movie

20. This now-NBA franchise once had to forfeit a playoff game to the Kentucky Colonels because their arena was unplayable. This franchise spent its early years playing in places like the Teaneck Armory and Nassau Memorial Coliseum on Long Island. This franchise's first star was Julius Erving,* whom they were forced to trade to the Philadelphia 76ers when he demanded a pay raise. This team found a permanent home in the Meadowlands of New Jersey in 1981, but decided to move back to Long Island in 2012. Name this NBA franchise, which plays in the Barclays Center in title New York borough.

Brooklyn Nets (prompt on "Brooklyn" alone)

21. One of this band's first songs describes how the lead singer was "never cool in school," and how he "was decked all in black" in the title location. This band, whose first big hit was the aforementioned "Underground,"* released Whatever and Ever Amen in 1997, with hit songs, "The Battle of Who Could Care Less," and the controversial "Brick," which describes the lead singer's girlfriend getting an abortion while they were in high school. For 10 points, name this band, who released one other album in 1999 before breaking up in 2000, named for the lead singer and pianist.
