

1. In between two spells at Internacional, Tinga made nearly 100 appearances for this club. A brace and assist off the bench in a comeback from 0-3 down in a derby marked the high point of Alexander Frei's stint at this club. Just a month after he signed for Watford, Richarlison stated that he dreams of playing for this club one day. Though he later departed this club for their derby rivals, (*) Felipe Santana made himself a hero when he scored a last-minute winner in a 2013 CL quarter-final against Manuel Pellegrini's Málaga. Dédé played over 300 matches for this club. Fans of this club prefer not to call their stadium "Signal Iduna Park." For 10 points, name this club that play at the Westfalenstadion.

ANSWER: Borussia Dortmund [or BVB]

2. Arthur Chung founded the semi-pro club AS Dragon in this country to represent one of its Chinese communities. In 2013, a league in this country began awarding 1 point to the losing team because the league organizers didn't want anyone to "feel sad." In 2017, Legia Warsaw loaned Steeven Lengil, a player from this country, to Waasland-Beveren after he filmed himself smoking shisha on Snapchat. AS Excelsior is a club from this home country of Wesley Lautoa. Because his ancestors were brought to this country as an exhibition of "cannibals," (*) Christian Karembou refused to sing this country's national anthem. The Indo-Mauritian parents of Vikash Dhorasoo were immigrants to this country. For 10 points, name this home country of Benoît Trémoulinas and Dimitri Payet.

ANSWER: France [prompt on Réunion, New Caledonia, Tahiti, or Martinique by asking, "which is an overseas territory of what country?"]

3. This player trained with lead-filled boots so that he would feel lighter when playing with normal shoes. In 1975, this player established a team of black schoolchildren in the Soweto township despite apartheid policies against doing so. Even though his teammate Stan Mortensen scored a (*) hat-trick, this player's legendary performance in a 4-3 comeback win led the 1953 FA Cup Final to be widely known as "[this player's] final." Although he supported Port Vale as a child, this player spent 19 years in total at their rivals. This player, who played until he was 50, was the first ever professional footballer to be knighted and won the inaugural Ballon d'Or. For 10 points, name this greatest Stoke City player ever.

ANSWER: Sir Stanley Matthews

4. In 1994, the Russian duo of Vasili Kulkov and Sergei Yuran joined this club. This is the club for which Zlatko Zlahovič played the most matches. Both the only Lithuanian and the only Russian to win the UEFA Champions League, Edgaras Jankauskas and current Yenisei manager Dmitri Alenichev, did so for this club. Marat Izmailov changed the “i” in his surname on his jersey to a “y” after moving to this club from a rival in 2013. Goals scored in this club’s five consecutive league titles in the 1990s often involved crosses by Ljubinko Drulović to the head of (*) Mário Jardel. Mexican players in this club’s recent history include Héctor Herrera and Tecatito Corona. For 10 points, name this Portuguese club, a member of the “Big Three” whose crest depicts a globe.

ANSWER: FC Porto [or Futebol Clube do Porto]

5. One manager of this club shouted “someone get me a blindfold and a cigarette!” at a press conference after a first-round cup exit; that coach who later pursued a career in commentary is Ray Hudson. Marco Etcheverry won several trophies while playing for this MLS club, though fellow Bolivian and once all-time MLS top scorer Jaime Moreno was more successful for this club, which is sponsored by (*) Leidos. This club is the only MLS club to have won an intercontinental title. This club’s former stadium was mocked for being a habitat for raccoons, though its new stadium, Audi Field, has no such problems. This club’s midfielder Lucho Acosta came up with their main playmaker’s nickname of “Señor Wayne.” For 10 points, name this club from the USA’s capital.

ANSWER: DC United

6. This club took its name from the word for “river island” in its country’s language. A series of final losses and second-place league finishes in the 1980s while in charge of this club led Otto Rehhagel to be nicknamed “Otto II” and the “Viceadmiral.” This is the club for which former WWE wrestler Tim Wiese played the most matches. A yellow shown to this club’s (*) Diego Ribas in a derby semi-final suspended him from the 2009 UEFA Cup Final, which they lost to Shakhtar Donetsk. In 2014, this club’s Aaron Hunt was widely praised for admitting a dive in the box to the referee. Aron Jóhansson and Josh Sargent are American players for this club, whose top scorer is Claudio Pizarro. For 10 points, name this German club who contest the Nordderby with Hamburg.

ANSWER: Werder Bremen [accept either underlined portion]

7. This stadium is located a block away from an avenue named for a famous novelist from its city, Blasco Ibañez. A 1957 flood of the Turia River severely damaged this stadium, which was once named for former club president Luis Casanova. This stadium, which was used as a concentration camp during the Spanish Civil War, succeeded the Alirós as the home of its club. In 2019, an exhibition of ninot puppets during the local (*) Falles festival was hosted in this stadium, which has an extremely steep North Stand. Fans often chant “anem a” this stadium. This stadium, which once served as a temporary home for Levante, has some of its seats painted white to write AMUNT and black to form a bat design. For 10 points, name this home stadium of Valencia.

ANSWER: Estadio Mestalla [do not accept “Nou Mestalla”]

8. This player began his youth career at FC Ménéval after emigrating from Cameroon at age 2. VegeDream’s hit song “Ramenez la coupe à la maison” opens with a command to “Casse la démarche” like this player. This player scored a curling volley in a 2012 Europa League match against (*) Tottenham Hotspur. In 2016, Rafinha posted a video of this player laughing at an image in which his face is photoshopped onto Carles Puyol’s head. In a 2018 World Cup semi-final, this player celebrated his goal against Belgium with a dance-walk. For 10 points, name this French center-back who signed for Barcelona in 2016.

ANSWER: Samuel Umtiti [or Samuel Yves Umtiti]

9. The Spanish phrase “los de afuera son de palo” is often misattributed to a player with this surname who hyped one of his teams by making them urinate on newspaper photos of their opponents. That player with this surname, who was nicknamed “El Negro Jefe,” captained Uruguay during their 1950 World Cup victory. In addition to Obdulio, another player of this surname was suspended by Eintracht (*) Frankfurt in 2017 after he went against club policy to get a tattoo that became inflamed; that right-back of this surname was on loan from Manchester United at the time. At the 2014 World Cup, a player of this surname scored a headed equalizer in the 94th minute for Portugal against the United States. For 10 points, give this surname of Portuguese winger Silvestre.

ANSWER: Varela [accept Obdulio Varela, Guillermo Varela, or Silvestre Varela]

10. After being sent off during a March 2019 match against Sampdoria, this manager shoved Sampdoria director Massimo Ienca to the ground. In 2018, this manager articulated his grudge for a former club when he claimed that he had never been manager of a big club since (*) Internazionale were not a big club. In April 2019, this manager’s current club scored four goals in the opening 15 minutes of a Serie A match against Bologna. One of the lowlights of Sam Allardyce’s Everton was losing 1-8 on aggregate in a 2017 Europa League tie to this manager’s club. Key players at this manager’s current club include Josip Iličić and talisman Papu Gómez. For 10 points, name this current manager of Atlanta.

ANSWER: Gian Piero Gasperini

11. This country's first professional club were forced to change their name to the "Football Kingz" with a "z" after receiving legal threats from a basketball team. In 2019, one of this country's greatest players, Wynton Rufer, suffered a heart attack while riding a Lime scooter. The crest of a semi-pro club in this country that often features at the Club World Cup displays the (*) Sky Tower. Upcoming talents from this country include Liberato Cacace and Sarpreet Singh. This country was the only undefeated side at the 2010 World Cup. This country, whose current players include Ryan Thomas and Chris Wood, is captained by the Danish-raised Winston Reid. For 10 points, name this country whose only professional club is A-League team Wellington Phoenix.

ANSWER: New Zealand [prompt on the All Whites]

(The semi-pro club is Auckland City FC.)

12. David Nugent won Leicester City's Goal of the Year award in 2015 for a volley he scored against this club. Rachid Ghezzal's only Premier League goal for Leicester City was scored against this club. Leicester City lost the 2017 Premier League Asia Trophy final to this club. In February 2017, (*) Danny Drinkwater scored a volley from just outside of the box against this club. This is the club against which Jamie Vardy has the greatest number of goals in his entire professional career. In November 2016, Vardy scored a spectacular half-volley against this club from just outside the box. For 10 points, name this club against which Leicester play away at Anfield.

ANSWER: Liverpool FC [or LFC]

13. This club's city was the site of a "Battle" between Brazil and Czechoslovakia at the 1938 World Cup that saw three red cards and injuries that forced a replay with 15 changes from the original starting XIs. This club's all-time top scorer, Alain Giresse, played nearly 600 matches for this club. In 2017, this club wore a third kit that displayed famous landmarks in its city like the Place de la Bourse. This club has not lost to (*) Marseille at home in Ligue 1 since 1977. Diego Rolán scored the first goal at this club's new stadium, the Matmut Atlantique. Tony Ising drew on this club's crest to design that of Melbourne Victory. In 1996, Juventus signed Zinedine Zidane from this club, which took its name from a Revolutionary faction that rivaled the Jacobins. For 10 points, name this club known as the "Girondins."

ANSWER: Girondins de Bordeaux [prompt on les Girondins before the last line]

14. In a March 2019 Google Autocomplete Challenge video, this player described himself as a "ripe fruit." In 2017, MARCA claimed that this player was learning Spanish by studying the lyrics to Real Madrid's hymn. In a July 2015 press conference, this player accidentally leaked the fact that (*) Bastian Schweinsteiger was signing for Manchester United. This player, who scored a goal both home and away in a 2018 Champions League semi-final against Real Madrid, won Germany's 2017 Player of the Year award. In 2018, this player asserted that he doesn't want to be a "clone" of Philipp Lahm. For 10 points, name this German midfielder-cum-right-back who plays for Bayern Munich.

ANSWER: Joshua Kimmich

15. Fans of this club are nicknamed the “leprosos” because they once played a charity match against a leprosy clinic. In 1985, this club’s manager scouted a player who is now a famous manager by going to his house at 2 AM and looking at his legs while he was asleep. Tata Martino is the record appearance holder at this club, who contest a derby with (*) Rosario Central. After this club went back on a promise to provide treatment for a growth hormone deficiency, Barcelona signed Lionel Messi. In 2018, this club received 2 million pounds to fund a new training facility from the namesake of its stadium, Marcelo Bielsa. For 10 points, name this Argentine club whose crest reads “NOB.”

ANSWER: Newell’s Old Boys [or Club Atlético Newell’s Old Boys]

16. This city is the birthplace of manager Gilbert Gress, who mentored a manager from this city who is the namesake of USL Duppigheim’s stadium. Club celebrations in this city often take place in its central square, the Place Kléber. In 2019, a mispronunciation of the French word point by commentator Daniel Bravo caused him to be accused of racism towards a player for a club from this city, (*) Nuno da Costa. This city contains the Stade de la Meinau, and Dimitri Liénard has played for a club from this city since they were in the Championnat National. That club from this city won the 2019 Coupe de la Ligue. For 10 points, name this French city, the birthplace of Arsène Wenger.

ANSWER: Strasbourg

17. A late comeback win in a semi-final of this tournament prompted commentator Ali Brownlee to exclaim that one side had “struck a stake through the heart of Dracula’s boys!” FC Basel’s Matías Delgado was this tournament’s top scorer, and Enzo Maresca scored a brace in this tournament’s final. Jimmy Floyd Hasselbaink left the runners-up of this tournament at its conclusion after he fell out of favour with their new manager and former captain (*) Gareth Southgate. Two last-minute winners against Basel and Steaua Bucureşti by Massimo Maccarone propelled Middlesbrough into this tournament’s final. For 10 points, name this competition in which Sevilla won their first European Trophy.

ANSWER: 2005-06 UEFA Cup [do not accept “2005-06 Europa League”]

18. The crest of a club from this country displays an “H” that curves to yield the shape of a waterfall and a flame in the shape of an “F.” Supporter groups of clubs in this country include the U-Sector and the Southsiders. A rivalry between two clubs in this country is known as the (*) “Al Classico.” In 2014, Brazilian forward Camilo controversially left a club in this country to move to Querétaro. The red-and-white sash on the home kits of Cavalry FC in this country were inspired by the uniforms of the Lord Strathcona’s Horse regiment. In 2019, Fredy Montero left Sporting CP to return to a club in this country. For 10 points, Steve Nash co-owns Vancouver Whitecaps in what country?

ANSWER: Canada [accept the Canadian Premier League]

(The club mentioned in the first line is Forge FC.)

19. In January 2019, a Spurs ballboy was pictured doing this action after preventing Isaac Success from recovering the ball. After Ajax were knocked out of the 2011-12 Champions League due to Dinamo Zagreb's 7-1 loss to Lyon, rumors of match-fixing abounded when Dinamo defender Domagoj Vida did this action after conceding the fifth goal. After refusing to be subbed off in the (*) 2019 FA Cup Final, Kepa Arrizabalaga was pictured doing this action towards a camera. In a 2006 World Cup match, Wayne Rooney was goaded into a red card by Cristiano Ronaldo, who did this action as Rooney walked off the field. For 10 points, name this action that is roughly the surname of Tottenham midfielder Harry.

ANSWER: winking [accept Harry Winks; do not accept "blinking"]

20. Owen Hargreaves signed for Manchester United after spending this many years playing for Bayern Munich. As manager of Paris Saint-Germain's under-19s, Thiago Motta played a formation with this many midfielders. Though he returned just a season later, Leonardo Bonucci signed for AC Milan after spending this many seasons at Juventus. Diego Maradona spent this many years at (*) Napoli. In August 2018, Al Sadd's Algerian striker Baghdad Bounedjah scored this many goals in a match against Al Arabi. Afonso Alves once scored this many goals in a single match for SC Heerenveen. A hat-trick by Federico Chiesa helped Fiorentina score this many goals in a 2019 Coppa Italia quarter-final against Roma. For 10 points, name this shirt number of Cristiano Ronaldo.

ANSWER: 7 [accept CR7]

21. The first match that José Fonté, Nicolás Gaitán, and Yannick Carrasco played for Dalian Yifang was a 0-8 loss to this club. In 2016, André Villas-Boas left this club to pursue a career in motorsport and was succeeded by this club's current manager Vitor Pereira. In 2016, this club spent 56 million euros to sign (*) Hulk from Zenit; a year later, they signed Oscar from Chelsea. After winning its first Super League title in 2018, this club allowed its talisman and all-time top scorer Wu Lei to sign for Espanyol. For 10 points, name this Chinese club that contest the Shanghai derby with Shanghai Shenhua.

ANSWER: Shanghai SIPG [accept Shanghai Dongya; prompt on Shanghai before the last line]

22. In his book Football in Sun and Shadow, Eduardo Galeano described this player as a "wild wolf ... disguised as an old woman" who "licked his chops" before scoring. In 1979, this player became enraged when manager Pál Csernai subbed him off for the first time in his entire 15-year career. This player opened a restaurant called The Ambry while finishing his career playing for NASL club (*) Fort Lauderdale Strikers. This player scored two hat-tricks against Bulgaria and Peru en route to winning the Golden Boot at the 1970 World Cup, during which he scored a brace in the "Game of the Century." This player, who was nicknamed "Der Bomber," is Bayern Munich's all-time top scorer. For 10 points, name this West German footballer, the all-time Bundesliga top-scorer.

ANSWER: Gerd Müller [or Gerhard Müller]

23. A mural in a stadium in one of these places depicts Quetzalcoatl under a boy receiving the dove of peace from his parents; Diego Rivera died before he could complete the companions to that mural. A club named for one of these places is symbolized by a pygmy owl called the chuncho. A clásico between two clubs named for these places takes place at the Estadio Nacional de (*) Chile, which was used as a detention center under Augusto Pinochet. Colo-Colo's rivals are named for one of these places. They have nothing to do with Sheffield, but one of these places names a notable precursor to the modern laws of the game. In 1968, two American athletes raised black-gloved fists at the Estadio Olímpico in one of these places. Pumas represent one of these institutions called UNAM. For 10 points, name these institutions whose football clubs were founded by students.

ANSWER: universities [accept university campuses; prompt on schools; accept Universidad de Chile; accept Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México; accept Universidad Católica; accept Cambridge University; prompt on U de Chile; prompt on UNAM]

24. In 2015, a club from this country offered a deal to Ched Evans, leading to their namesake Scottish club being mistakenly criticized on social media. Plymouth Argyle signed Yannick Bolasie from a club in this country, where Fabrizio Miccoli finished his playing career. Melbourne Victory's current manager, who was often derided as the "dirtiest player in football," is an Australian descended from this country. In 2019, MK Dons hired a bodyguard to protect a manager born in this country from (*) Exeter City fans; that manager is Paul Tisdale. This country's most successful clubs are Floriana and Sliema Wanderers. Manny Muscat played for this country, whose oldest club took its name from a symbol of this country, St. George's Cross. For 10 points, name this country home to Valletta FC.

ANSWER: Malta

(The club mentioned in the first line is Hibernians FC, which took their name from Hibernian FC.)

25. Vitesse won their first ever top-level trophy in this year, as did Moreirense and Konyaspor. Goals from Jamie Hopcutt and Saman Ghoddos helped Östersund knock Galatasaray out of the Europa League in this year. In this year, Burnley scored 3 goals in the first half of a Premier League (*) opening match against Chelsea. A Clásico in this year at the Bernabéu saw a famous Messi celebration in which he held his kit up to the home crowd. In this year, goalkeeper Alberto Brignoli scored a headed last-minute equalizer against AC Milan to secure Benevento's ever first point in Serie A. For 10 points, name this year in which Barcelona staged a ridiculous Champions League comeback against Paris Saint-Germain.

ANSWER: 2017

26. Birmingham native Paul Child is a prominent figure in the football culture of a city in this state where Highmark Stadium has a stand named after him. Faryd Mondragón played one season for a club from this state whose supporters often chant “doop.” This state’s lower-division professional teams include the Riverhounds. A famous cartoon depicting a (*) rattlesnake inspired the crest of both this state’s only MLS club, who are supported by the Sons of Ben, and Bethlehem Steel FC. Signed on the back of 2014 World Cup hype, Raïs M’Bolhi was a huge flop for a club from this state who have been coached by Jim Curtin since 2014. Christian Pulisic was born and raised in this state’s city of Hershey. For 10 points, name this state home to the Philadelphia Union.

ANSWER: Pennsylvania

27. In 2013, Kevin Pietersen criticized Jack Wilshere for claiming that he didn’t want this player to play for England. In 2014, players like Jason Puncheon and Andros Townsend defended this player after he took a girl on a date to (*) Nando’s. Fans of a club this player was loaned to came up with a chant pairing his name with the phrase “Sometimes I;” this player joined that club, Sunderland, after a lacklustre loan to Borussia Dortmund. This player, who was eligible to represent seven countries including Turkey and Croatia, flourished under David Moyes but left Manchester United for Real Sociedad in 2017. For 10 points, name this Belgian winger.

ANSWER: Adnan Januzaj

28. As manager of this club, Gary Peters refused to call their rivals by their proper name, instead calling them “that lot with the tower.” Fans of this club call those rivals “donkey lashers.” An iconic photograph of this club’s greatest player depicts him swerving past two Chelsea defenders on an extremely waterlogged pitch. That star of the sculpture The Splash is Tom (*) Finney. This club and Arsenal are the only clubs in English football history to have had undefeated league seasons. Recently, this club has signed several players from the League of Ireland, including Alan Browne and Séan Maguire. This club, whose crest depicts a lamb holding a cross, have played at Deepdale since 1875. For 10 points, name this Lancashire club with a directional name.

ANSWER: Preston North End [accept either underlined portion; accept PNE]

29. This club’s adoption of their rival’s derogatory term for them made them quite popular in Turkey. Sir Bobby Robson convinced Barcelona to sign Rivaldo from this club instead of Liverpool’s Steve McManaman. In 1994, Serbian defender Miroslav Đukić was kicked out of this club after missing a crucial last-minute penalty for this club that gave a league title to Barcelona. This is the first Spanish club for which Andrés (*) Guardado played. A mural of former talisman and 1993 Pichichi winner Bebeto is located in this club’s stadium, the Estadio Riazor. Diego Tristán’s goalscoring output for this club dropped dramatically after his strike partner Roy Makaay departed to Bayern Munich. In 2018, this club were relegated to the Segunda División under Clarence Seedorf. For 10 points, name this Galician club from A Coruña.

ANSWER: Deportivo La Coruña [accept Depor or Súper Depor]

30. After they lost 6-2 in a cup final against Real Madrid with László Kubala benched, Barcelona sacked this manager, who grew up in Casablanca. This manager's persistence in playing Giuliano Taccola despite Taccola's ill health contributed to a seizure that killed him in his team's locker room two weeks later. Luís Suárez was a protégé of this manager, whose stock dropped massively following a European Cup defeat to the (*) Lisbon Lions. This manager was known for his adaptation of Swiss manager Karl Rappan's verrou, or "door-bolt" tactic. Giacinto Facchetti became a goal-scoring left-back under this manager, who employed Armando Picchi as a libero in his most famous side. For 10 points, name this manager famous for the catenaccio of his Grade Inter.

ANSWER: Helenio Herrera

31. The oldest and most successful professional women's football club in the US is named for this thing. A rival club of US Créteil may have taken their name from one of these things used by Buffalo Bill or an Atlantic shipping line named for this thing. Jules Rimet founded a club named for this thing, and another club named for this thing has given out awards named for this thing to players nicknamed "Piksi" and "Pižon." A May 1990 match saw a notable fight between the Bad Blue Boys and the (*) Arkan-led Delije of a club named for this thing. Marseille were defeated in Bari by a club named for this thing in the 1991 European Cup Final. Although it's nowhere near Brazil, the stadium of a club named for this thing is universally known as Marakana and hosts "Eternal" derbies against Partizan. For 10 points, name this symbol that names the most popular club in Serbia.

ANSWER: red star [prompt on star by asking, "of what color?"; accept FK Crvena Zvezda; accept Red Star Paris; accept Red Star Club Français; accept Red Star Saint-Ouen; accept Chicago Red Stars; accept Étoile Rouge or Stella Rossa]

32. Fans still sometimes use the name of local timber manufacturer Arnold Laver to refer to a stand in this stadium. Fans often chant "Hello! Hello! We're the Shoreham Boys!" in one section of this stadium. This was the first English ground that legendary stadium architect Archibald Leitch designed. In 2015, this stadium controversially removed the name of local athlete Jessica Ennis-Hill from one of its stands. This stadium hosted the final of the Youdan Cup, the world's (*) first football tournament. In 2007, this stadium hosted a friendly celebrating the 150th anniversary of the world's oldest club. The final of the second ever football tournament was won by a precursor to the rivals of this stadium's club called The Wednesday. For 10 points, name this stadium of Sheffield United.

ANSWER: Bramall Lane

33. James Marcelin scored Haiti's only goal in a 7-1 loss to Brazil in this tournament. A match in this tournament saw the Chilean national anthem played in place of the Uruguayan anthem. Brazil were eliminated from this tournament by a controversial handballed goal by Peru's (*) Raúl Ruidiaz. A 7-0 scoreline in this tournament's quarter-final included four goals by eventual top scorer Eduardo Vargas against Mexico. Though he went back on his decision just a months later, Lionel Messi announced his retirement from Argentina after this tournament after a disappointing final that saw Argentina lose in a penalty shootout due to saves by Claudio Bravo. For 10 points, name this tournament won by Chile that celebrated the hundredth anniversary of the Copa America.

ANSWER: Copa America Centenario [or 2016 Copa America; accept just Centenario at the end]

34. English jockey Harry Wragg lends his name to rhyming slang for a club from this city nicknamed the "Jags." As manager of a club from this city, John Lambie instructed for a concussed player to be informed that he was Pelé and sent back on to the pitch. Alfredo di Stefano's hat-trick and Ferenc Puskás's poker helped Real Madrid decimate Eintracht Frankfurt 7-3 in the 1960 European Cup Final in this city. This city is home to a club with a hilarious anthropomorphic (*) sun mascot named Kingsley as well as the oldest association club outside of England and Wales, amateur club Queen's Park FC. Hampden Park is located in this home city of Partick Thistle. For 10 points, name this city home to Ibrox and Celtic Park.

ANSWER: Glasgow [accept Glasgow Rangers or Celtic Glasgow]

35. In this year, a plane crash killed most of the players of Bolivian club The Strongest. After being blamed for a 0-4 loss to Celtic in an FA Cup final, Sir Alex Ferguson left Rangers in this year. Pelé scored his 1000th goal, a penalty against Vasco da Gama, in this year. The most recent instance of a hat-trick in a European Cup or Champions League final was scored by Pierino Prati for AC Milan against Ajax in this year. George Best once claimed that his 20 minutes giving up women and alcohol in this year were the "worst time in [his] life." For 15 points, name this year in which Oliver Kahn was born. (*)

ANSWER: 1969

36. Canadian striker Alex Bunbury spent a majority of his career playing for a club from this region who wear red and green as a tribute to its founding in the same year that its country became a republic. Although he was born in Caracas, Venezuela, former Zenit winger Danny was born and raised in this region. Heavy fog often causes visibility problems and postponement of matches of (*) CD Nacional in this region. Pepe began his career for a club in this region, CS Marítimo. This region's airport, which in 2016 was renamed after its greatest footballer, contained a hilariously awful bust of that player. For 10 points, name this Portuguese archipelago where Cristiano Ronaldo was born.

ANSWER: Madeira

37. In 2017, Matt Paterson signed a contract with Oxford City in a business of this type. In September 2019, Aurelio De Laurentiis reportedly approached a business of this type to finance a new stadium for Napoli. One of these businesses was widely criticized for offering a free lifetime supply of its main product to Russian women who become pregnant from 2018 World Cup footballers. In 2009, a business of this type sponsored an atrocity of an away kit for (*) Getafe. Upon taking over at Fulham in November 2018, Claudio Ranieri said he would take the squad to one of these businesses in return for clean sheets. After being subbed off in a June 2011 Belgium game, Eden Hazard went to one of these businesses with his family. For 10 points, name these eateries exemplified by Burger King.

ANSWER: fast-food restaurants [prompt on restaurants; accept McDonald's until “criticized”; anti-prompt on McDonald's or Burger King after “criticized” by asking, “which are what type of restaurant?”]

38. In October 1954, nearly ten thousand fans in a stadium in this city claimed to have seen a layer of a sticky “angel hair”-like substance fall from the sky after seeing several UFOs fly above them. This city contains Coverciano, the official training ground for the Italian national team. As a tribute to an early form of football from this city called calcio storico, a club from this city has in recent years had (*) 4 blue, green, red, and white away kits, one for each of this city’s historic districts. In 2015, Chelsea sent Mohamed Salah on loan to a club from this city in exchange for Juan Cuadrado. Fans of a club in this city angry at Roma’s signing of Gabriel Batistuta destroyed a statue of him outside the Stadio Artemio Franchi. For 10 points, name this home city of ACF Fiorentina.

ANSWER: Florence [or Firenze]

39. Richard Wright transferred between these two clubs a season after leaving Ipswich Town for the first time. In 2019, Swedish winger Anders Limpar stated that his “dream move” from one of these clubs to the other in 1994 was motivated by his love for Imre Varadi as a child. A short loan to AC Milan preceded an even shorter loan from one of these clubs to the other for Philippe Senderos in 2010. Matches between these two clubs are the overall (*) highest-scoring fixture in Premier League history. Tomáš Rosický’s final goal in England was scored for one of these clubs against the other. On deadline day in summer 2011, David Moyes let Mikel Arteta leave one of these clubs for the other. For 10 points, Theo Walcott transferred between which two clubs in 2017?

ANSWER: Arsenal and Everton

40. Most of the winning squad of AFCON 1992 played for a club from this city that holds the world record for most consecutive undefeated league matches, 108. This city will host a plurality of the matches for AFCON 2023 in stadiums like one named for its country's first president, who moved the capital away from this city to his hometown. As manager of now-defunct KSK Beveren, Jean-Marc Guillou signed a contingent of players from a club in this city including Copa, (*) Romaric, and Arthur Boka. The Stade Félix Houphouët-Boigny is located in this city, where a club coach gave Gervais Yao Kouassi his more common nickname. This city's main club is ASEC Mimosas, which has produced players like the Kalou brothers. For 10 points, name this largest city in the home country of Kolo and Yaya Touré.

ANSWER: Abidjan [accept ASEC Abidjan]

41. This manager played for Berea Park in apartheid-era South Africa's whites-only National Football League. This manager reportedly once described Udinese as an "extremely strange club." In his first ever job, this manager won the league with Halmstads BK a year after they avoided relegation on goal difference. Along with Bob Houghton, this manager has a "corner" named after him in the stadium of (*) Malmö FF, where he revolutionized Swedish football. This manager once dismissed the fact that his team only had 2 shots on target as "fucking bollocks." Fulham reached their only major European final under this manager, who inexplicably made Harry Kane take corners at the 2016 Euros. For 10 points, name this current manager of Crystal Palace.

ANSWER: Roy Hodgson

42. American electrical engineer George Capwell founded and names the stadium of a club from this country. The top Copa Libertadores scorer of all time, half-Jamaican Peñarol legend Alberto Spencer, is considered this country's greatest player. While manager of Southampton, Gordon Strachan once stated that he cared more about an expiring yoghurt than this country's all-time top scorer, Agustín Delgado. This country temporarily retired its number 11 after the sudden death of its striker (*) Chucho Benítez at age 27. A Spanish immigrant to this country founded Barcelona SC, who contest the Clásico del Astillero with Emelec. For 10 points, name this country whose Premier League players included Enner and Antonio Valencia and which is home to LDU Quito.

ANSWER: Ecuador

43. Fans of a club that shares its name with this city originated the famous chant of "la concha de tu madre All Boys" to mock their rivals. A stadium in this city contains the world's largest video board. The name of a rap group from this city inspired the supporters' group Footie (*) Mob. The railway history of this city is reflected in that stadium's "Golden Spike" ritual and the blowing of a train horn after each home goal. Darren Eales is the president of a club in this city that holds the top 7 MLS individual attendance records and whose South American talent includes Pity and Josef Martínez. For 10 points, name this southern city whose club share Mercedes-Benz stadium with the Falcons.

ANSWER: Atlanta [accept Atlanta United or Club Atlético Atlanta]

44. Clyve Tyldesley claims that a manager of one team in this match framed Tyldesley’s commentary notes for this match on the wall of his house. Duran Duran’s Simon le Bon couldn’t get into the afterparty of the winning side of this match. Montserrat Caballé performed while riding on a golf cart before this match. Pierluigi Collina compared the (*) Camp Nou’s atmosphere in this match to a “lion’s roar.” The opening goal in this match was a free-kick curled around the wall by Mario Basler. The winning side’s manager exclaimed, “Football, eh? Bloody hell,” in astonishment at his team’s late victory in this match thanks to Ole Gunnar Solskjær. For 10 points, name this match that made Manchester United European champions just before the turn of the century.

ANSWER: 1998-1999 Champions League Final [accept Bayern vs. Manchester United in the 1998-1999 Champions League]

45. Children often play football in this city’s public recreational playground, the Jordan Park. In 2018, a club from this city currently controlled by its ultras the Sharks tried to sell itself to Cambodian businessman Vanna Ly, who may have been a fictional person. Hutnik Nowa Huta are the third-largest club in this city, whose derby is popularly known as the “Holy War.” A club in this city is currently captained by a former (*) Dortmund winger who offered to play without a salary. A stadium in this city on the Vistula River is named after former Marshal Józef Piłsudski; that club from this city retired its No. 1 in honor of its most famous fan, John Paul II. For 10 points, name this city home to the largest club known as Wisła.

ANSWER: Kraków [accept Cracovia or Wisła Kraków]

46. Possibly the first ever Brazilian inter-club football match took place in 1899 between Mackenzie College and a team named for an immigrant from this country. The nickname of “Coxa-Branca” for Coritiba stems from a nickname for an immigrant from this country in the club’s first ever team. This country and (*) Brazil are the only ones to have qualified for the World Cup in every attempt. 19 of Grêmio’s 23 founding members were members of this country’s diaspora. Although he was born in Brazil, Cacau played for this country. Alisson and Argel Fucks are players with descent from this country, which lost the 2002 World Cup final to Brazil. For 10 points, name this country that knocked Brazil out of the 2014 World Cup.

ANSWER: Germany [or Deutschland]

(The immigrant mentioned in the first line is Hans Nobiling.)

47. In 2018, a player with this given name was appointed as a senior vice president by Canadian energy company Genoil. That player with this given name once celebrated with an air-golf putt after scoring a goal against Germany. In 2014, Eiður Guðjohnsen assisted the debut goal of a player with this given name for Bolton Wanderers who had joined the club after leaving Newcastle (*) Jets. In 2019, Arsenal loaned a player with this given name to RB Leipzig; a commentator error during a friendly has led to the nickname of “Ernie” for that player. A striker with this given name popularized the “DJ” celebration. For 10 points, give this first name of Heskey.

ANSWER: Emile [accept Emile Smith Rowe or Emile Heskey]

48. US Créteil was created as the result of a merger that included an amateur club from Saint-Maur founded by immigrants from this country. The fact that he was born in Strasbourg contributed to the mononym of a midfielder from this country being the French word for “little.” The maternal grandfather of Antoine (*) Griezmann played for a club in this country. A person from this country who named himself the “agent of the year” for six consecutive years and founded GestiFute routinely brings players from this country to AS Monaco. French players with descent from this country include Olympique Lyonnais’s current starting goalkeeper, as well as Kévin Gameiro and Raphaël Guerreiro. For 10 points, name this country that defeated France to win the 2016 Euros.

ANSWER: Portugal [prompt on Lusitanos de Saint-Maur by asking, “who are from what country?”]

49. Liverpudlian engineer and Everton fan John Alexander Brodie invented these objects. The crests of Borussia Mönchengladbach and Hamburger SV are visible in their instances of these objects. A set of these objects in Zaragoza’s La Romareda span four meters each. One of the first things Brendan Rodgers did upon his appointment as Liverpool manager was change the (*) color of these things to red. They’re not cars or jerseys, but Gerard Piqué collects these objects, which he may have taken from a tradition of basketball players snipping these objects to keep as souvenirs. For 10 points, name these objects that “catch” the ball after it passes the goal line.

ANSWER: nets [prompt on goals before “Gerard”; do not accept “goalposts”]

50. The protagonists of the 2011 non-English film Supercops attempt to search for one of these animals that had been kidnapped. One of these animals rose to prominence after being gifted by an English travelling circus group headed by Carola Williams, who had found its mother near the Orla river. For nearly 40 years, Wilhelm Schäfer took care of a (*) set of these animals that take their name from a manager surnamed Weisweiler. In a crest, one of these animals leans onto a red circle depicting the outline of a famous cathedral. In March 2015, Anthony Ujah apologized to one of these animals, Hennes VIII, for mounting it to celebrate a goal. For 10 points, name this animal that serves as 1. FC Köln’s mascot and whose English word abbreviates “greatest of all time.”

ANSWER: goat [or Geißbock; accept billy goat; prompt on Hennes by asking, “which is what type of animal?”]

(The film mentioned in the first line is Superbullen.)