

Drew Jensen's Vanity Music Packet

Note to potential players, readers, scorekeepers, etc.:

This is a vanity packet. In this packet there may be questions on things that you have never heard of before, bonuses going back and forth between bagels and easy 30's, and more. The questions probably won't even be good. This set has barely been edited and playtested, if at all. I just want to make sure we have this understanding before you play, and that you don't get too mad at me.

Tossups

1. In the US, this song was featured as the B-side to the single "You Make Loving Fun." The singer of this song claims that "Rulers make bad lovers, you'd better put your kingdom up for sale." The take of this song that was used for the album it appears on was performed at 4 a.m., and includes the sounds of shattering glass, as well as a dobro* and sitar. The singer encourages the title figure to "Rock on" and "Take your silver spoon, and dig your grave." For 10 points, name this Fleetwood Mac song, where the title figure "Make you cry, make you break down," and "shatter your illusions of love."
"Gold Dust Woman"
2. In a song off of this album, the singer encounters "A man with a broken back," who "had a fear in his eyes" that the singer could understand. In another track off this album, "Strangest Thing," the singer claims they recognize every face, but don't have everything they need. Several songs on this album recount the singer's experiences with his brother while growing up. One such instance occurs on the track* "Nothing to Find," which claims "you played my brother like fire." "Thinking of a Place," which clocks in at 11:11, was released as a single off of this album. For 10 points, name this The War on Drugs album released in 2017.
A Deeper Understanding
3. In the A-ha song "To Let You Win," one of these instruments plays in the background of the chorus. One of these instruments plays at both the beginning and the end of the song "Aerodynamic". In one song, the singer claims they can tell their lover missed them due to the look in their eyes, before telling their lover that they can ring* one of these instruments. That song is by Anita Ward. One of the most famous songs with these instruments is Iron Maiden's "Hallowed be Thy Name." For 10 points, name these instruments, which are rung at the beginning of an AC/DC song with these instruments in the name.
Bells {Anti-prompt on specific answers}

4. Note to Players: Description Acceptable. This song was first performed due to the claim that Gospel songs didn't sell anymore. This song's backing guitar was played in G. In this song, the title event occurs the same day as a supernatural event. Shortly before the title event is complete, this song's narrator's love cries for him. That love was Marie*. In this song, one singer claims that the undead "have never seen as much food as this". One singer claims in this song that bones and worms are the undead's money. For 10 points, name this song, in which a western ballad about the title villain is contrasted with the revival of undead creatures who will pull your hair up, but not out.
"The Day Robert Palins Murdered Me" {Prompt on partial answers; accept answers as long as they say something along the lines of the Skeleton Song from I Think You Should Leave}
5. This album's opener repeats the phrases "Ridin' around town, they gon' feel this one," and "Got my eyes open." This album includes various snippets of an interview with comedian Jerrod Carmichael. This album's second track was released as a single, which became this album's artist's highest-charting song. In one song off of this album, the singer claims they are a puppet because their crush controls them. In a different song off this album, the singer asks "why the fuck your ex here" when "you invited me to breakfast." For 10 points, name this Tyler, the Creator album, whose title character experiences falling in love before being rejected.
IGOR
6. One song by this artist opens with a person ordering a cookie pop that's "just my pace." Another song by this artist begins with a woman angrily asking "who said that?" Later in that song by this artist, that woman states "she doesn't believe in destiny." Another of this artist's tracks opens with them repeatedly asking "where did you go?" That song, "Gettin' my Mom On," appears on this artist's album HiLo. In one song by this artist, he "doesn't want to bug you," but he needs money to buy candy bars. For 10 points, name this artist that created albums such as Pop Food and Finite Form, as well as the song "Buttercup."
Jack Stauber
7. This region was formerly a lake that was drained through the gap of Baramulla. This region is believed to be the source for Ptolemy's country Kaspeiria. The region is bordered by 2 of the largest non-polar glaciers in the world. The Jhelum Valley is home to this region's namesake vale. This region's mountainous borders are divided by the Indus* River. This region borders the Wakhan Corridor in the northwest, and Tibet in the northeast. For 10 points, name this region in northern India that shares its name with a Led Zeppelin song that appears on the album Physical Graffiti.
Kashmir

8. This album was created in the Pet Sounds Studio, in which the founding member of the album's band rented out all but one room. Robert Schneider produced this album, opting to put off completion of the album Hooray for Tuesday. Electric guitar recordings intended to be used for this album were scrapped due to them not fitting the theme of this album. The cover art for this album was designed by Chris Bilheimer, who edited a postcard that he designed. Two of this album's songs have lyrics that were inspired by Anne Frank's diary. For 10 points, name this seminal Neutral Milk Hotel album that became incredibly popular amongst audiophiles.

In the Aeroplane Over the Sea

9. In the 2008 NBA Finals, one of this band's songs fittingly plays in the background of a highlight shown before a commercial break. That song opens with the verse "I woke up this morning," before the singer describes his morning routine, which includes "putting on some music". In that song, the singer closes their eyes and slips away. In one song by this band, the singer claims "I understand about indecision, I don't care if I get behind." That song is "Peace of Mind." One song by this band begins with a 2 and a half minute instrumental called "Foreplay." For 10 points, name this band, who released a self-titled album in 1976 and shares its name with the capital of Massachusetts.

Boston

10. In one song with these things in the title, the singer claims that in order to catch one of these things you "make a movie" and "set the tempo." In another song with these things in the name, a singer claims they'll pull up with "a bad bitch who came from Sri Lanka." In that song with these things in the name, the singer claims that they'll "shoot the lights out"* and "hide til' it's bright out." That lyric is sung by Bon Iver. In a widely panned verse on a song with these things in the title, Jay-Z lists several creatures that would qualify as one of these things. In one song with these things in the title, Rihanna claims she's friends with one of these things that lives under her bed. For 10 points, name these things that appear in the titles of songs by MGMT, Kanye West, and Eminem.

Monsters {Anti-prompt on Of Birds, Moons, and Monsters; accept The Monster}

11. Note to Players: Specific Answer Required. Note to Moderators: You can accept and give full points to anyone who sings this song as their answer. DO NOT READ THE FOLLOWING OUT LOUD UNTIL THE END OF THE TOSSUP AND IF NECESSARY. If this tossup goes dead, you may allow players to look up the answer and participate in a buzzer race for a whole 5 points.

This song's lyrics draw inspiration from the folk song Пойду выйду на улицу (poidu vyidu na ulitsu), which translates to "I'll go and get outside." This song was originally composed by Russ Landau, who incorporated various native instruments into different variations of this song. One such instrument is the Aboriginee didgeridoo, which appears in this song's second iteration. In later versions, this song gets progressively shorter each time it is played. In 2018, this song was completely excluded from the show that this song is featured on. For 10 points, name this theme song of Survivor.

Ancient Voices {Prompt on answers like Survivor theme song until it is mentioned, do not prompt or accept partial answers}

12. In a song titled for this action, the singer claims "whatever tomorrow brings, I'll be there."

In that same song titled for this action, the singer will also "hold their own" and perform this action. In a song partially titled for this action, a lady the singer sees on the street says she wants to be a star. The singer offers in the meantime that she can perform this action*.

A song partially titled after this action repeatedly features the singer telling his homie to perform this action slowly. That song features Paul Wall and GLC. In a Steely Dan song, the singer asks if they can perform in Harlem. For 10 points, Rihanna demands that the listener shut up and perform what action?

Drive {The songs clued are "Drive" by Incubus, "Drive My Car" by the Beatles, "Drive Slow" by Kanye West, and "Midnite Cruiser" by Steely Dan}

13. Some of this musician's side work involved playing with groups such as the Family Dogs and Wings. Some of this musician's first gigs were with The Nicky James Movement and the Senators. This musician first met with a future band member while playing with the blues group The Crawling King Snakes. Another band member first recruited this musician while he was playing at the Three Men in a Boat pub*. This musician would frequently perform 20 minute solos on the drums when the band would play the song "Moby Dick" in concert. For 10 points, name this musician, who died in 1980 due to alcohol poisoning and who served as the drummer for Led Zeppelin.

John Bonham

14. This band was originally a Beach Boys cover band by the name Darling, named after a Beach Boys song. For this band's fourth studio album, they decided to work with recording equipment from the 1970s. For this band's first album, they drew inspiration from the Primal Scream album Screamadelica. Nile Rodgers* plays on this band's highest charting single, released in 2013. Shortly before this band released their second album, they donned costumes that would go on to define them. That album is used as the soundtrack to the film Interstella 5555. For 10 points, name this French house duo consisting of Thomas Bangalter and Guy-Manuel de Homem-Christo.

Daft Punk

15. This musician was discharged from the military due to his lack of interest, including sleeping on the job. This musician only joined the Navy because it was his only option besides going to prison for being caught driving stolen cars. This musician formed his first group with fellow discharged soldier Billy Cox named the King Kasuals. This musician first found success with an eponymous "experience,"* which was an opportunity given to him by Linda Keith and her boyfriend Keith Richards. That musician's group released their first album in 1967, which featured tracks such as "Purple Haze" and "Foxy Lady." For 10 points, name this musician, one of the most influential guitarists ever, who names a chord.

Jimi Hendrix

16. In a scene where this song plays, a character claims that they don't want to be the bad guy, before harshly stopping another character from singing this song. In another scene, a gun misfires, shooting a character in the shin. In one scene, two characters get into an argument over one of the character's use of drugs while this song plays. In one famous scene, a character enters a room with boxes* of pizza while the rest of the characters experience incredible chaos while this song plays. In one scene, the characters sing and dance along to this song, much to the disbelief of one of them. For 10 points, name the following Police song, which is frequently played in the Community episode "Remedial Chaos Theory."

"Roxanne"

17. Before this album was created, the artist was inspired by a bootlegged tape shown to him by Heidi Berg. Before the artist who made this album left where he created this album, he contributed to "We Are the World." The artist behind this album drew controversy due to a cultural boycott* imposed on the country where this album was recorded. This album features collaborations with the Boyoyo Boys and Lady Black Mambazo on the tracks "Gumboots" and "Homeless," respectively. For 10 points name this Paul Simon album recorded in South Africa, which shares a name with a museum in Tennessee.

Graceland

Bonuses

1. A fan favorite Survivor alumnus made an appearance on Flowerboy, much to this writer's surprise. For 10 points each:

[10] Name this Survivor player, whose most notable appearances are on the tracks "Sometimes" and "I Ain't Got Time!". This player introduces himself as the host of Golf Radio and subsequently labels a caller "Mr. Fucking Secret Agent." Tyler, the Creator tweeted that this player was his spirit animal.

Shane Powers

[10] Shane Powers appeared on this season of survivor. This season's subtitle was the namesake location where players were banished, but as a benefit were able to look for the Hidden Immunity Idol.

Survivor: Panama, Exile Island {Accept Survivor Season 12, Survivor Panama; prompt on Survivor}

[10] Powers was slated to return both for Survivor: South Pacific and this season, only to be replaced last minute. This seminal 20th season of Survivor celebrated ten years of the show by inviting 20 popular castaways who fell into two notable archetypes.

Survivor: Heroes vs. Villains {Do not prompt or accept Survivor Season 20}

2. For 10 points each, answer the following about samples and covers of Tame Impala songs.

[10] This rapper sampled "Feels Like We Only Go Backwards" in his aptly titled song "Backwards." This rapper is regarded as one of the best rappers in the industry due to albums such as To Pimp a Butterfly and Section.80.

Kendrick Lamar

[10] Rihanna covered this Tame Impala song, which serves as the final track on Currents. In this song, Kevin Parker laments his tendency to fall into old habits.

"New Person, Same Old Mistakes" {prompt on partial answers}

[10] In the song "Sundress," A$AP Rocky samples the guitar from "Why Won't You Make Up Your Mind," which appears on this debut album by Tame Impala.

Innerspeaker

3. For 10 points each, answer the following about characters created by David Bowie.

[10] Bowie burst onto the glam rock scene in 1972 under the guise of this character. This character titled a popular album, who stars alongside the Spiders from Mars.

Ziggy Stardust

[10] Shortly after moving to the U.S., he assumed this persona. This character had a morbid fascination with fascism, as well as a crippling cocaine addiction that Bowie claimed caused him to give a Nazi salute out of an open-topped car.

The Thin White Duke

[10] While Bowie never performed under the guise of this character, which the song "Space Oddity" revolved around. Peter Schilling wrote a sequel to "Space Oddity," following up on the story of this character.

Major Tom

4. While not frequently used in rock songs, the piano still has some notable experiences. For 10 points each:

[10] This Chicago track opens with a piano solo. In this song, the singer remembers the title day, which he thinks was the Fourth of July.

“Saturday in the Park”

[10] (Note to moderators: you may choose to read the following out loud: The writer was too lazy to write an actual clue for this bonus part, but two words are probably all you need): Billy Joel.

“Piano Man”

[10] One of the most notable artists to use piano in rock was this British musician. It features prominently on tracks like “Benny and the Jets” and “I Guess That’s Why They Call It the Blues.”

Elton John

5. Sometimes it’s hard to escape TV, even when you’re listening to the radio. For 10 points each, answer the following about TV theme songs that were popular on the charts.

[10] “Boss of Me,” the theme of Malcolm in the Middle, is a song by this band. This band created albums such as Miscellaneous T and John Henry.

They Might Be Giants

[10] This Rembrandts song serves as the theme song for the classic sitcom Friends. In one mashup, Neil Cicierega combines this song with Disturbed’s “Down With the Sick.”

“I’ll Be There for You”

[10] This notoriously harsh American Idol judge churned out great children’s themes, including the Teletubbies and Might Morphin’ Power Rangers themes.

Simon Cowell

6. Kanye West loves collaborating with other rappers. For 10 points each:

[10] A frequent Kanye collaborator is this fellow rapper, who features Alicia Keys on his track “Empire State of Mind.”

Jay-Z

[10] Kanye and Jay-Z collaborated on this album, released in 2011. This album’s most popular track reveals who exactly was in Paris.

Watch the Throne

[10] Kanye worked with this artist to create the album KIDS SEE GHOSTS. Ye forms one half of the group with the same name with this artist.

Kid Cudi

7. For 10 points each, answer the following about songs involving some bitches.
- [10] The Rolling Stones song “Bitch” appears on this album. This album also features the tracks “Wild Horses” and “Brown Sugar,” and its cover depicts a close up of the crotch of a pair of jeans.
- Sticky Fingers
- [10] In a song, Kendrick Lamar implores a bitch not to perform this action. This song is the second track on good kid, m.a.a.d. city.
- Bitch, Don’t Kill My Vibe
- [10] “Venice Bitch” is a track that appears on this Lana Del Ray album. This album also includes tracks such as “Mariners Apartment Complex.”
- Norman Fucking Rockwell! (Accept NFR)
8. For 10 points each, answer the following about interludes included in Tame Impala albums.
- [10] This interlude, featured in The Slow Rush, begins with an outtake that jokingly claims that cranking the bass up makes it better. It is the second to last track on the album.
- “Glimmer”
- [10] “Nangs,” the second track from Currents, features a dreamy soundscape, backed by Kevin Parker Jr. looping this question.
- But is there something more than that?
- [10] “She Just Won’t Believe Me” is an interlude that appears on this album. Other tracks on this album include “Keep on Lying” and “Music to Walk Home By.”
- Lonerism
9. Few bands produced influential musicians at quite the same volume as the Yardbirds. For 10 points each, answer the following about famous musicians who played with the band.
- [10] The first great guitarist for the Yardbirds was this musician, who frequently ditched bands to form new ones. This musician also played for Cream and Derek and the Dominos.
- Eric Clapton
- [10] After Clapton’s departure, he would be replaced by this guitarist. This guitarist would go on to form a group with Tim Bogert and Carmine Appice.
- Jeff Beck
- [10] Following the band’s breakup in 1969, they still had a contract to tour Scandinavia that they had to fulfill. Guitarist Jimmy Page followed through on it, creating the New Yardbirds, who would eventually reform into this band.
- Led Zeppelin

10. After a brief introduction, James Bond films proceed on to their opening credits, typically accompanied with some serious bangers. For 10 points each:

[10] One of the most famous Bond themes is “Live and Let Die,” which was written by this Paul McCartney band. After the breakup of the Beatles, McCartney worked with this band, also producing songs such as “Band on the Run.”

Wings

[10] The most recent Bond film, No Time to Die, features a song performed by this artist. This artist frequently collaborates with her brother Finneas O’Connell.

Billie Eilish

[10] “Skyfall” was written by this British musician, who released the album 21 a year earlier in 2011. She also released the album 19 in 2009.

Adele

11. The Parents Music Resource Center created the explicit label in the 1980’s. For 10 points each:

[10] The PMRC was sponsored by this U.S. Senator. This Senator’s wife Tipper pressured him to create the PMRC, and he served as one of the chairs of the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science, and Education.

Al Gore

[10] Tipper Gore began to push for the creation of the PMRC after she heard her daughter singing the lyrics to a song by this artist. This artist’s song “Darling Nikki,” which drew Gore’s ire, appeared on this artist’s album Purple Rain.

Prince

[10] The PMRC wanted record labels to include warnings like X, V, D/A, and O, which stood for this warning. Many heavy metal bands like Judas Priest would be subject to this warning.

Occult {The other warnings are Explicit, Violence, and Drugs/Alcohol}

12. Sometimes you just need to take a step back and breathe. Some songs are better for that than others. For 10 points each:

[10] This band helpfully reminds you to “Breathe in the Air.” That is the second track on this band’s album The Dark Side of the Moon, one of the most influential concept albums in history.

Pink Floyd

[10] This rapper tells the listener to “Breathe In, Breathe Out.” This rapper also not-so-gently tells bitches to move and get out of the way.

Ludacris

[10] “Breathe Deeper” is a track on this album. This album features the song “Borderline.”

The Slow Rush.

13. For 10 points each, answer the following about the influence JRR Tolkein had on Led Zeppelin.
[10] One interpretation of the song “The Battle of Evermore” is that the song is Zeppelin’s way of telling the story of this fictional battle. This battle takes place outside the city of Minas Tirith, where Gondor is reinforced by the Riders of Rohan.

Battle of Pelennor Fields

[10] In one song, the singer claims he met a girl so fair in the darkest depths of Mordor. However, the Evil One and this character crept up and slipped away with her. This character holds the One Ring before Bilbo takes it in The Hobbit.

Gollum

[10] The singer recounts this experience in this Led Zeppelin song. This song appears on their second album.

“Ramble On”

14. In “Once in a Lifetime,” the Talking Heads tell you many places you may find yourself. For 10 points each:

[10] You may find yourself behind the wheel of one of these things. You may in fact tell yourself that this thing is not yours.

Large Automobile

[10] You may find yourself in a house that is described with this adjective. You may find yourself with a wife who is described with this adjective as well.

Beautiful

[10] In quite the contrast, you may yourself in one of these locations. In the song, this location is described with the word “shotgun.”

Shack

15. For 10 points each, name some of the artists who collaborated with Santana on the album Supernatural.

[10] This artist provides the vocals on the track “Smooth.” This artist released the songs “Lonely No More” and “Little Wonders.”

Rob Thomas

[10] This artist appears on the track “Do You Like the Way” along with Cee-Lo Green. This artist released an album about her “miseducation.”

Ms. Lauryn Hill

[10] Dave Matthews appears on this track alongside Carter Beauford. He claims that “where you are is where I want to be.”

“Love of My Life”

16. Daft Punk is one of the premiere bands when it comes to sampling. For 10 points each:

[10] Edwin Birdsong's "Cola Bottle Baby" is sampled on this Daft Punk track. Kanye West samples this song in his track "Stronger."

"Harder, Better, Faster, Stronger"

[10] "Superheroes" samples the song "Who's Been Sleeping in My Bed," a song by this artist.

This artist also created tracks like "I Write the Songs" and "Could It Be Magic."

Barry Manilow

[10] "One More Time" samples this Eddie Johns song. After "One More Time" was released, a rumor spread that Daft Punk did not clear the sample of this song.

"More Spell on You"